

Help shape future-ready skills

Loudoun County Public Schools, with George Mason University and William & Mary, is inviting 10 parents and caregivers to an advisory committee this school year. Your perspective will guide how schools and families support the skills students use in class and beyond.

- Communication
- Collaboration
- Decision-making
- Self-management

MEETINGS

Six virtual meetings

60 minutes each, spread across the school year.

PREP

About 20 minutes

A short read before you join a meeting.

BETWEEN

Occasional follow-ups

About 30 minutes, and only sometimes.

What you would help decide
Practical ways for LCPS to work with families on future-ready skills, including how schools use student information about those skills. You will meet with other caregivers, LCPS staff, and the researchers.

Who can join
Primary caregivers of current LCPS students. Every background and experience is welcome. Only 10 seats.

Fill out the interest form

Tell the researchers you want to be considered. Scan the code, or tap the button.

Open the Parent Interest Form

Scan the code if you are looking at a photo or a printout.